

SIES SOP STAR AWARDS

FORWARD – PACKAGING INDUSTRY

The Packaging Industry in India has since the recent past years grown exponentially and made excellent strides in materials and converted forms as well as machinery and systems. This has enabled their making inroads into all product category segments and even bringing in its fold products hitherto not packaged ensuring better hygiene, safety and convenience. The industry is slated to grow at over 12% p.a. with increasing potential to serve the common masses. The path has been built on concerted efforts by all interests and concerned resulting in newer materials, newer forms, effective and increased properties besides corresponding responses from the conversion and packaging machinery and systems.

Recognition of such efforts should augment and accelerate the growth further. The SIES School of Packaging having seized of the industry and institutional efforts has decided to institute the awards “SIES SOP STAR AWARDS for Excellence in Packaging” to honour and respect all interests who have contributed to the growth path.
